

*NOTE: (U) Although individual paragraphs may be unclassified, aggregates of two or more unclassified paragraphs may warrant the classification of CONFIDENTIAL or higher. consult HQ ESC/INS for guidance. See Art

DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE
HQ Electronic Security Command
San Antonio, TX 78243

ESC REGULATION 23-28

17 July 1981

Organization and Mission—Field

MISSION AND ORGANIZATION OF 6993 ELECTRONIC SECURITY SQUADRON (ESS) (U)

(C) This regulation states the mission, organization, and responsibilities of the 6993 ESS according to AFR 23-30 and

(1)

*NOTE

1. Mission. The mission of the 6993 ESS is to provide and operate facilities to process, and report designated also, to recover, identify, process, and report data collected by other US activities on NSA/CSS has operational and technical control of the mission.

2. (U) Organization. The 6993 ESS is a major command-controlled unit, assigned to 6960 Electronic Security Wing (ESW), and organized according to AFR 26-2. The authorized internal unit structure is shown in attachment 1. The unit commander may authorize further organizational breakouts consistent with AFR 26-2 but addition of new elements or realignment of functions between elements requires HQ ESC approval.

3. (U) Responsibilities. The Commander, 6993 ESS, is responsible for ensuring that the unit accomplishes the following:

a. (U) Operating a consolidated (ESC/INSCOM) activity to provide:

(1) (U) Backup support of conventional missions performed by other activities.

(2) Supplemental coverage of conventional missions during periods of increased activity or during critical periods.

(3) coverage to augment special-location capabilities.

(4) Improved quality, recovery of or data, and performance of developmental efforts for new or unusual activities.

(5)

b. identifying, processing, and reporting resultant data in a timely manner.

c. (U) Providing unit administration, discipline according to the Uniform Code of Military Justice, and ensuring the general welfare of and a high state of morale among assigned personnel.

d. (U) Obtaining maintenance management and administrative, logistical, and operational support from HQ ESC.

e. (U) Providing effective and efficient management of unit funds and other resources.

f. (U) Obtaining necessary civil-engineering support from the 6960 ESW/DE in coordination with the Lackland Military Training Center (LMTCC)/DE and Kelly AFB/DE.

CLASSIFIED BY USAFINTEL 2014
REVIEW ON 17 JULY 2001

Supersedes ESCR 23-28, 30 April 1976. (See signature page for summary of changes.)

No of Printed Pages: 4

OPR: XPMMO (Mr. W. Charlston)

Approved by: Mr. William J. Thornton

Editor: Jane L. Weddle

Distribution: M; X: AFISC/DAP (1); AUL/LDEA (1); HQ USAF/MPMO (2); 6993 ESS/CC (1); 6960 ESW/CC (1); 6923 ESS/CC (1)

g. (U) Maintaining unit mission equipment and specific equipments within HQ ESC as tasked by ESC/LGM.

h. (U) Ensuring that appropriate security is provided for ESC priority resources and adequate protection for all ESC property.

i. (U) Maintaining emergency-actions preparedness, preparing ESC Lackland Training Annex Emergency Actions Plan (EAP) 355-XX for all ESC activities on Training Annex, and conducting exercises of the EAP.

j. Performing liaison and exchanging technical data with other US activities.

k. (U) Managing Total Force Programs according to ESCR 528-1.

l. (U) Submitting unit histories according to AFR 210-1 as supplemented.

m. (U) Performing other tasks as required or as directed by higher headquarters.

n. (U) Training assigned personnel to proficiency levels required to fulfill the mission.

o. (U) Exercising operational control of the ESC CRITICOMM Telecommunications Center.

4. (U) Relationships to Other Units or Agencies:

a. (U) HQ ESC/DA provides direct administrative support to the 6993 ESS, while the 6960 ESW provides logistical and security support. Host AF units on Lackland and Kelly AFBs provide AFR 11-4 support.

b. (U) The 1923 Comm Gp, Kelly AFB, maintains USAF Program. Communications-Electronics Support Program equipment.

c. (U) The UNIVAC vendor, thru coordination with HQ ESC/AD, maintains computer or computer-related equipment.

d. (U) The 2082 Comm Sq, Lackland AFB, maintains the secure-telephone system.

e. (U) SA/ALC, Kelly AFB, provides precision measuring equipment laboratory support as directed in AFRs 11-4 and 74-2.

f. (U) AFCSC satellite supply provides the function of Chief of Supply according to AF and ESC directives.

g. (U) The Commander, 6993 ESS:

(1) Is authorized direct communication with DIRNSA and other US activities on operational and technical-data exchange matters.

(2) Refers policy matters relating to operations to HQ ESC/DO.

(3) (U) Is authorized direct communications with LMTC and the ESC Alert Center on emergency situations as prescribed by JCS Pub 6, Volume 5, AFRs 355-1 and 207-1, ACR 55-1, and ESC WMP 12-74.

(4) (U) Refers questions on administrative matters to HQ ESC/DA and on logistics and security police matters to 6960 ESW according to AFR 11-4 and DOD 4000 19-M.

(5) (U) Receives effectiveness reports from the Commander, 6960 ESW.

h. (U) The 6960 ESW provides manning and supervision for normal security posts within the 6993 ESS restricted areas according to appropriate systems security standards (AFR 207-5). Additionally, the 6960 ESW provides staff supervision over all security police functions within the 6993 ESS area of responsibility.

i. (U) Within ESC, HQ ESC/DO exercises operational control over the squadron's primary mission.

j. (U) The HQ 6960 ESW provides squadron personnel military justice administration, including summary and special courts-martial jurisdiction and concurrent jurisdiction for actions under Article 15, UCMJ.

k. (U) HQ ESC/AD provides systems analysis, computer programming, computer operations, and other computer-related support.

l. (U) The local AFCC unit commander (or designated representative) serves as The Director of Communications-Electronics for the 6993 ESS (6993 ESS/DC), responsive to the 6993 ESS/CC for communications-electronics support including C-E programming and CRITICOMM telecommunications operations and maintenance.

FOR THE COMMANDER

THOMAS L. TOUCHBERRY, Capt, USAF
Acting Director of Administration

1 Attachment
Organizational Chart, 6993 ESS (U)

SUMMARY OF CHANGES

(U) This revision updates nomenclature, revises channels of command and control, and describes new relationships involving the 6960 ESW and HQ ESC.